

5 things to expect from your contract review

1

Choose your path

Select a review package that fits your needs and schedule a consultation at your convenience. From the start, you're in control of the contract review experience.

2

Share your story

Every CRNA/nurse anesthesiologist career is unique. Your reviewer will take time to understand your background, experience, and goals to ensure the review reflects your scope of practice.

3

Understand your terms

Your reviewer understands your story and how it compares to the offer at hand, using real compensation data and MGMA benchmarks. Whether you're evaluating a W-2 or 1099 contract, you'll gain clarity on how your pay compares to industry standards—and what your agreement means for your career.

4

Turn data into direction

Receive personalized feedback and recommendations tailored to your goals. Your reviewer coaches you through your contract in plain language, flags potential issues, and offers negotiation strategies to strengthen your compensation and protect your autonomy.

5

Negotiate with confidence

Review your results in a one-on-one consultation with a CRNA compensation expert and move forward with confidence. If you choose, Contract Diagnostics can negotiate directly with the facility on your behalf, and select packages include ongoing support throughout the negotiation and due diligence process.

Key Takeaway

Your career deserves clarity, confidence, and fair compensation. With AANA and Contract Diagnostics, you gain expert insight, real data, and personalized support to take charge of your professional future.

AANA and Contract Diagnostics empower CRNAs/nurse anesthesiologists to protect their value and shape their careers with confidence.

Contract Diagnostics is an independent third-party organization and a Member Advantage Program (MAP) Partner of the American Association of Nurse Anesthesiology (AANA). The information and services provided by Contract Diagnostics are offered as a resource for AANA members. AANA does not endorse, guarantee, or assume responsibility for any products, services, or content provided by Contract Diagnostics.