AANA Journal Mission Statement

AANA Journal promotes the art and science of nurse anesthesiology practice in the most evidence-based and systematic manner possible. Nurse anesthetists are involved in a wide range of healthcare delivery interventions including providing anesthesia, critical care, pain management, patient-and-provider education, and administrative leadership. The Journal brings illumination to the spectrum of responsibilities of the nurse anesthetist by marshaling knowledge derived from state-of-the-art reviews, commentaries, and both clinical and laboratory studies. The principal trajectory of AANA Journal is to advance patient safety.

Authors must disclose all commercial associations, perceived or otherwise, that might pose a conflict of interest in connection with submitted work. Such associations include consultancies, speaking on behalf of a vendor, equity interests, or patent licensing arrangements. Such disclosure will be noted on the published article and also are available for review upon request. When employing material previously published, written permission from the original author and publisher is required for the printed, as well as the digital version. Additionally, signed consent forms are required for all use of photographs of identifiable individuals. Photographs of minors must be submitted with a consent form signed by a parent or legal guardian. All research published in AANA Journal must include signed Institutional Review Board approval with the submission. Articles that include CE credit are prior approved by the American Nurses Credentialing Center. Articles that mention off-label use of drugs will be identified as such in the published article.

AANA Journal complies with the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals developed by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors, as well as all ethics, consent, and disclosure guidelines of the American Medical Association.

All articles published in AANA Journal have undergone a double-blinded, peer review process. Submitted manuscripts must be submitted in AMA Style.

The AANA Journal takes seriously any scholarly forms of misconduct. For any instances of plagiarism or other forms of misconduct, the journal will initiate steps following the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE) guidelines on retractions and misconduct. For unintended errors that do not affect the results or conclusions of an article, a formal correction notice will be issued, using ICMJE guidance.
