

Selecting a Business Entity

Entity Descriptions

Sole proprietorship - A sole proprietorship is the simplest and most common structure chosen to start a general business. It is an unincorporated business owned and run by one individual with no distinction between the business and the owner. The owner is entitled to all profits and is responsible for all the business's debts, losses and liabilities. Given the potential for liability accompanying the administration of anesthesia, this is rarely, if ever, utilized for business ventures related to the provision of healthcare services.

- US Small Business Administration (SBA): Sole Proprietorship
- Internal Revenue Service (IRS): Sole Proprietorships

Partnership – A partnership is a single business where two or more people share ownership. Each partner contributes to all aspects of the business, including money, property, labor or skill. In return, each partner shares in the profits and losses of the business. The following are two types of partnership agreements:

- 1. General Two or more people (or entities) joining together to operate or conduct a business as co-owners. This arrangement assumes that profits, liability and management duties are divided equally among partners.
- 2. Limited This arrangement is more complex than general partnerships. Limited partnerships allow partners to have limited liability as well as limited input with management decisions. These limits depend on the extent of each partner's investment percentage. Limited partnerships are attractive to investors of short-term projects.

SBA: PartnershipIRS: Partnerships

Limited Liability Corporation (LLC) – An LLC is a hybrid legal structure that provides the limited liability features of a corporation and the tax efficiencies and operational flexibility of a partnership. Owners of an LLC are called members. State regulations of LLC vary, and should be reviewed prior to establishing and LLC. Due to state specific regulations, compliance with all rules may be complex. Most states do not restrict ownership; therefore, members may include one or more individuals, corporations, or other LLCs. Unlike shareholders in a corporation, LLCs are not taxed as a separate business entity. Instead, all profits/losses are passed through the business to each member. LLC members report profits/losses on their personal federal tax returns, just like the owners of a partnership would.

SBA: Limited Liability CompanyIRS: Limited Liability Company

C Corporation – A C Corporation is an independent legal entity owned by shareholders. The corporation itself, not the shareholders that own it, is held legally liable for the actions and debts the business incurs. It is subject to "double taxation" which means that the corporation will be taxed on its profits and whatever funds are distributed to the shareholders as dividends will also be taxed.

SBA: CorporationIRS: Corporations

S Corporation – An S Corporation is a special business entity created through an IRS tax election. It is similar to a C Corporation but is allowed to act as a pass-through entity, allowing corporate income, losses, deductions, and credits to flow directly through to the individual shareholders, thereby avoiding double taxation.

SBA: S CorporationIRS: S Corporations

Comparison Chart

	Sole Proprietorship	General Partnership	Limited Partnership	Limited Liability Corporation (LLC)	C Corporation	S Corporation
Ownership	One owner.	Unlimited number of owners.	Unlimited number of owners; one must be a general partner.	Unlimited number of owners ("members").	Unlimited number of owners/ shareholders.	Limited to 100 shareholders.
Personal Liability	Unlimited personal liability for business debts and obligations.	Unlimited personal liability of general partners for business debts and obligations.	Unlimited personal liability of general partners for business debts and obligations. Limited partners have limited liability.	Owners have limited liability for business debts and obligations.	Owners have limited liability for business debts and obligations.	Owners have limited liability for business debts and obligations.

	Sole	General	Limited	Limited Liability	C Corporation	S Corporation
	Proprietorship	Partnership	Partnership	Corporation (LLC)
Taxation	Business entity	Business entity	Business entity is	Business entity is	Business entity is	Business entity is not taxed.	is not taxed.	not taxed.	not taxed.	taxed on earnings	is not taxed.
	Profits/losses	Profits/losses	Profits/losses are	Profits/losses are	at the corporate	Profits/losses are passed	are passed	passed through to	passed through to	level and the	are passed through to the	through to the	the general and	the members	shareholders	through to owner's	general	limited partners'	personal tax returns;	have a further tax	shareholders personal tax	partners'	personal tax return;	therefore there is no	on any dividends	personal tax return; therefore	personal tax	therefore there is no	"double taxation."	distributed	return; therefore there is no	return;	"double taxation."		("double	there is no
	"double	therefore there		May elect to be	taxation").	"double taxation."	is no "double		taxed as		taxation."
		taxation."		corporations.
Formation	Doing Business	General	Limited Partnership	Articles of	Articles of	Articles of
Documentation	As (DBA) Filing	Partnership	Certificate	Organization	Incorporation	Incorporation
		Agreement
			Limited Partnership	Operating	Bylaws	Bylaws
		Local filings if	Agreement	Agreement partnership			Organizational	Organizational holds real			Board	Board
		estate			Resolutions	Resolutions
					Articles of	Articles of Incorporation	Incorporation
					Ctook Contification	Ctools
					Stock Certificates	Stock Certificates
					Stock Ledger	301
					J	Stock Ledger
						IRS & State S Corporation
						election

	Sole Proprietorship	General Partnership	Limited Partnership	Limited Liability Corporation (LLC)	C Corporation	S Corporation
Management	Owner has complete control and entitled to 100% of profits.	General partners have equal management rights.	The general partner manages the business, subject to any limitations of the Limited Partnership Agreement. Limited partners are not involved in management.	Operating Agreement establishes how the business is managed; a manager can be designated to manage the business.	Board of Directors is elected by shareholders and has overall management responsibility; appointed officers have day-to-day responsibility.	Board of Directors is elected by shareholders and has overall management responsibility; appointed officers have day-to-day responsibility.
Capital Contributions	Owner is responsible for required capital and services. Investors generally do not like to fund a sole proprietorship.	General partners contribute capital or services to the partnership. More partners may be added. Does not allow for outside investors.	General and limited partners contribute capital or services to the limited partnership. More partners may be added. Does not allow for outside investors.	Members contribute capital or services. Funding an LLC is not often a preferred method of investment.	Best corporate structure to attract investors. Shareholders purchase stock in the corporation, either common or preferred.	Shareholders purchase stock in the corporation, but only one class of stock is allowed.
Stock	Cannot sell stock.	Cannot sell stock.	Cannot sell stock.	An LLC may offer several classes of membership interest. Offering different classes/types of stock is difficult	Allowed to sell multiple classes/types of stock.	Limited to one class of stock.

	Sole	General	Limited	Limited Liability	C Corporation	S Corporation
	Proprietorship	Partnership	Partnership	Corporation (LLC)
Meetings	Not required to	Not required to	Not required to hold	Members may, but	Required to hold	Required to Documentation	hold annual	hold annual	annual meetings or	are not required to,	annual meetings	hold annual meetings or	meetings or	record meeting	hold annual	or record meeting	meetings or record meeting	record meeting	minutes.	meetings or record	minutes.	record meeting minutes.	minutes.		meeting minutes.		minutes.
Duration of	Terminated at	Partnership	Partnership	In most states, an	Business can	Business can Entity	owners	terminates at	terminates at upon	LLC legally	exist in	exist in discretion or	upon the	the withdrawal or	dissolves upon the	perpetuity.	perpetuity. Can death.	withdrawal or	death of a partner.	death, disability,		be converted to death of a	The remaining	withdrawal,		C Corporation, partner. The	partners may carry	bankruptcy, or		if needed.
		remaining	on the partnership	expulsion of a partners may	business, but the	member. Remaining carry on the	partnership is legally	members must fulfill partnership	a new and different	all remaining legal business, but	partnership.	and business
		the partnership		obligations to close is legally a new		the business.
		and different		Provisions may be partnership.		included the operating agreement to prolong the life of the LLC if a member decides to leave the business. Difficult to convert to a C Corporation.

Additional Considerations

In discussions with your legal counsel, you might inquire whether or not your jurisdiction allows for the utilization of professional or medical corporations and whether or not there are any issues related to the corporate practice of healthcare when considering your selection of a business entity.

References

- BizFilings. Starting Your Business.
- Comparison Chart of the Different Forms of Business Entities.
- Internal Revenue Service. Business Structures.
- Legal Dictionary. Limited Liability Company.
- Legal Dictionary. Partnership.
- The Company Corporation. Business Comparison Chart.
- US Small Business Administration. Choose Your Business Structure.

DISCLAIMER

The resources on this page may incorporate or summarize views, guidelines or recommendations of third parties. Links to third-party websites are inserted for informational purposes only and do not constitute endorsement of any material at those sites, or any associated organization. Any and all business resources, including but not limited to those referenced, provided, or linked to this page, are intended to be used for reference and general guidance only. The documents should not be duplicated without consideration for a specific business arrangement or situation. Nothing contained in any of the resources on this page constitute legal advice. No Attorney-Client relationship is established by use of any of the documents herein. Each CRNA utilizing this website or any resources included herein should consult with legal counsel in his or her state (or the State in which you intend to practice) to be properly advised on any laws or regulations governing his or her business practices. State laws vary and certain provisions or considerations provided in the resources on this page may or may not be applicable or enforceable.

The material and references are assembled and presented in good faith, but do not necessarily reflect a comprehensive analysis nor reflect the views of the AANA. The site will be updated and reference to additional resources will be added. Please check back for any updates and be certain to coordinate with legal counsel to verify that there have been no changes in the law or specific factors present that would affect the appropriate usage of any provision or information contained herein.